Dear Parents/Carers,

We are writing to let you know about an exciting action research project that we are about to embark on over the next year alongside some other Sutton Schools.

This is being led by Cognus Limited and People First Education and the aim of the project is to have a positive impact on our school through:

- An increased understanding of SEND and inclusion
- Further developed understanding of individual behaviours
- An increased pupil voice (and increased SEND pupil voice)
- A reduced number of behavioural sanctions issued

As part of the research, we need to get the views of pupils by asking children to complete the Stirling Children's Wellbeing Scale at the start and the end of the project to evaluate the impact of it. All information that is given by your child will be confidential and they will be anonymous and not identifiable in any publications resulting from this project. The survey will help us gain an understanding of how pupils feel at SPJS as a whole. Children will be completing the survey over the next week.

The implications of this research are invaluable for school staff to hear directly from the children, about what they like and don't like about their school life and then we can do our best to make it even better.

Once we have completed the research project, findings will be analysed and shared with schools taking part in the action research and will be shared with you.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to get in contact with us.
